With a commitment to providing quality education and giving back to the environment, The King's College have forged a strong partnership with Ausco Modular. The college has been utilising Ausco's transportable buildings as 10 multi-purpose classrooms and recently extended their term for an additional 24 months. Facing a common challenge, they needed additional learning spaces to accommodate their growing student population. The transportable classrooms were quickly deployed, ensuring the school year began without disruptions.

Beyond the classroom, The King's College and Ausco Modular share a commitment to community and sustainability. In a remarkable display of this shared value, Ausco volunteers alongside 40 King's College students as part of the college's annual "Generosity Day." Together, we plant trees and contribute to the local environment.
