The Pennant Hills Junior AFL Club had a vision to create facilities that didn't just benefit the club, but the entire community. The previous facilities were missing something crucial - female-friendly change rooms.

The club secured federal funding that played a big role in crafting the modern-day club rooms. Creating an inclusive space connecting players, families and friends across Sydney's sports scene, these facilities will serve the community for generations to come.

Ausco, our builders, were fantastic. They delivered our new clubhouse on budget and on time. There were with us every step of the way.
